

I am excited and I sell basic skincare sets. Why? Because it saves a person's face from acne, wrinkles, pollution and life.

Everyone falls in love with the skincare when they are in my presence. They cannot help themselves.

I book everyone because of course they want to see me again. That's just how cute, charismatic, and dynamic I am.

I don't even realize it but I'm so amazing that people begin to ask questions in their mind during my skincare class. Like "(insert your name) makes this look like its so much fun and she makes it looks so easy. I wonder if I can do what she does."

I influence people with my heart. I give this my guys every, single, time. This happens at every single skincare class.
